

Emerging Construction Technology – The Hardware and Software Changing the Industry

MCAA's Director of Construction Technology, Sean McGuire, will provide an in depth look at the technology changing our industry and the ways that contractors are adapting to it. He will explore emerging hardware, software and mobile applications that mechanical, plumbing and service contractors are using to gain a competitive advantage.